

Things to Do in Iowa City

We know the annual Homeschool Iowa Conference is a bit like a vacation for many of our attendee families. Iowa City, Coralville, and the surrounding area have many wonderful activities to offer, many with free admission, and we hope you'll take advantage of them while you're in town. We've provided a list of activities below. Explore and enjoy!

OLD CAPITOL MUSEUM

Together, Old Capitol Museum and the Museum of Natural History (next door in Macbride Hall) form the University of Iowa Pentacrest Museums. Old Capitol Museum has been in operation since 1976, when the building reopened after a major renovation. It is the only National Historic Landmark in Iowa City. Throughout its long history, the building has served as a seat of the territorial and state governments, a university building serving numerous schools and colleges, administrative offices, and finally a museum.
